

METHOD AND APPARATUS FOR PREVENTING TOOTH DECAY

ABSTRACT

5 A method for preventing tooth decay by initially treating the tooth surface with a laser with a coherent or noncoherent light source. This process makes the tooth more resistant to acid and more able to bond fluoride, thus requiring a lower concentration of fluoride. The method allows for a deeper penetration of the tooth then previously accomplished with other methods.

10

H:\DOCS\UAHV\AH-5282.DOC
121801
[H:\DOCS\UAHV\AH-3854.DOC:122000]

2000-01-01 10:00:00